

Editor's picks

Three things your family should check out

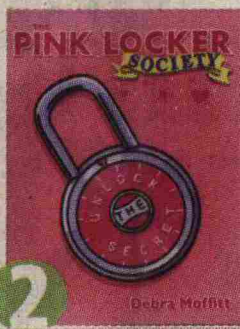

1

Belli Baby "Bundle of Joy Gift Set"

The Belli Baby bundle set offers baby and parents comfort with safe and effective skincare products that protect and nourish baby's delicate skin. Be the first to tell us about your baby experience and we'll send you a gift set. E-mail editor@tntpublications.com. The set includes "Calm Me" hair and body wash; "Nourish Me" enriched body lotion; "Pamper Me" talc-free powder; and "Protect Me" diaper rash cream.

$32 at Pottery Barn Kids, Mother Works, baby/maternity boutiques, or belliskincare.com

2

The Pink Locker Society

When eighth-graders Gemma and her best friends start the first day of school, they open their lockers only to find a door to another locker. This pink door invites them into a secret society that gives girl-to-girl advice about growing up and the PBBs (periods, bras and boys). The Pink Locker Society also reveals a vast network of girls who share similar concerns. The book and related Web site cheer girls on as they work through the challenges of being a "tween-ager."

Purchase the book at amazon.com ($6.99)

3

A Parent's Guide to the Middle School Years

Back-to-school is the perfect time for learning more about this critical time in your child's life. Author Joe Bruzzese offers parents and their children support to face this time with confidence. Get information on keeping kids safe online, identifying the signs of bullying, cyberbullying and depression, and rules for cell phone use, tips for productive parent-teacher relationships and much more.

$14.95 Celestial Arts

